ABOUT IFHNOS

Dr. Jatin P. Shah proposed the establishment of an international organization to bring together all specialists involved in the care of patients with Head and Neck Cancer, in 1985. The proposal was enthusiastically received by the Society of Head and Neck Surgeons, and leaders of Head and Neck Oncologic Societies worldwide were contacted to explore the feasibility of establishing the International Federation of Head and Neck Oncologic Societies. A steering committee was formed, which drafted the constitution and bylaws of the Federation, in 1987. Dr. Jatin Shah was elected Secretary General by unanimous vote of the Governing Council. The initial programs of the Federation consisted of expanding membership, compilation of a newsletter, and organizing World Congresses. Over the years, the Federation has grown with a membership of 70 Head and Neck oncologic organizations, representing 58 countries. The Federation has successfully attained its initial goal and mission of establishing channels of communication to foster camaraderie amongst professionals involved in the care of patients with head and neck cancer.

MEMBERSHIP

MEMBER NATIONS

The International Federation of Head and Neck Oncologic Societies (IFHNOS) offers membership to regional and national organizations of physicians and allied scientists in the specialty of head and neck cancer, but does not accept individual memberships. To participate in IFHNOS activities, one needs to be a member of their National or Regional Head and Neck Organization. IFHNOS membership provides an opportunity to stay up-to-date with the latest developments in clinical care and research in the field of head and neck oncology, as well as access to world-renowned oncologic specialists for specific clinical care questions and issues. Members of all component societies are listed alphabetically, by primary specialty, by country of origin, and under each organization's membership list. Contact information is provided voluntarily by each member.

GLOBAL ON LINE FELLOWSHIP

The Global On Line Fellowship program developed by IFHNOS in collaboration with Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center (MSKCC) in New York aims to establish a standard of knowledge and amongst head and neck surgeons in the care of patients with neoplasms in the Head and Neck. It is a 2 year self-learning program with periodic on line written examinations followed by an oral examination before an International panel of examiners. The program also requires a one month period of “Observership” at one of the approved centers of excellence around the world shown in the table below. . Upon successful completion the candidate is awarded a certificate, which indicates that the candidate has acquired a globally established standard of core knowledge and matured judgment.

INTERNATIONAL FELLOWSHIP IN HEAD AND NECK SURGERY (IFHNS)

IFHNOS introduced a new program called the “Comprehensive International Fellowship in Head and Neck Surgery and Oncology” (IFHNS) in 2021. This Fellowship program emphasizes hands on surgical training in an accredited international training center. This program also requires that the candidate complete either concurrently or in tandem the Global On Line Fellowship (GOLF) academic program to acquire theoretical knowledge and judgment. Candidates who complete both the clinical and the academic requirements of these programs, will be eligible for conferral of the title of IFHNS (International Fellow in Head and Neck Surgery). The Directors of the approved programs are established leaders in the specialty, and the centers offering this comprehensive Fellowship program have met with international standards of head and neck training and are accredited by IFHNOS.

MASTERS OF HEAD AND NECK SURGERY

The practice of “Good Head and Neck Surgery” is at a variance in many parts of the world. Standardization of good surgical technique throughout the world, adhering to the principles of Surgical Oncology is crucial. With that focus, IFHNOS introduced a New Program of, “Master Courses in Operative Techniques in the Head and Neck Surgery” in 2019. These hands-on courses with Live surgery, cadaver dissections, and didactic presentations, with sequential operative steps and videos, of proper operative techniques will be given by Global experts - Master Surgeons - in a 3-day program in any part of the world. The focus of this program would be on proper oncologic, safe and clean surgical techniques, their indications, pearls and pitfalls, and complications etc.

Well-known leaders and Professors of Head and Neck Surgery from around the world, have volunteered to participate in this program.

INTERNATIONAL TRAVELING SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

IFHNOS has established an International Traveling Scholarship Program offering a grant of US $5,000 to selected candidates who can travel to one of the centers of excellence in North America and observe clinical and/or research activities for one to two months to enhance their clinical competence and research productivity. The program is available to candidates who have completed at least 5 years of surgical training in general surgery, otolaryngology, plastic surgery, or allied specialties with a focus on head and neck cancer. The Traveling Scholarship can be undertaken at any approved institution with centers of excellence in head and neck surgery listed in this program, and applications for the grant should be submitted by July 1st of each academic year. The program is supported by the Jatin and Bharti Shah Family Foundation.

Approved Institutions: MSKCC, New York; MDACC, Houston; University of Toronto, Toronto

WORLD HEAD AND NECK CANCER WEEK

During the 5th World Congress of IFHNOS in 2014 in New York a proposal was made by Dr. Pankaj Chaturvedi of India to declare July 27th as the World Head and Neck Cancer Day. This was unanimously approved by all in attendance and endorsed by the chief guest, Michael Douglas. Since then, Head and Neck Cancer Day has been observed around the world on July 27th. Due to logistic reasons, IFHNOS has recommended that any day during the week of July 27th be observed as the Head and Neck Cancer Day and offer/conduct its activities as recommended.
